THROUGH A WINDOW.

I lie here at rest in my chamber,
And look through the window again,
With eyes that are changed since the old time
And the sting of an exquisite pain.

'Tis not much I see for a picture,
Through boughs that are green with Spring—
A barn with its roof gray and mossy,
And above it a bird on the wing;

Or, lifting my head a thought higher,
Some hill and a village I know;
And over it all the blue heaven,
With a white cloud floating below.

Ah! once the roof was a prison,
My mind and the sky were free,
My thoughts with the birds went flying,
And my hopes were a heaven to me.

Now I come from the limitless distance
Where I followed my youth's wild will,
Where they press the wine of delusion
That you drink and are thirsty still.

And I know why the bird with the spring-time
To the gnarled old tree comes back—
He has tried the South and the Summer:
He has felt what the sweet things lack.

So I come with a sad contentment,
With eyes that are changed I see;
The root means peace, not a prison,
And heaven smiles down on me.

Troublesome Diamonds.

"By the way, do you know what has become of the famous diamond necklace which was presented to General Sherman's eldest daughter by the Khedive of Egypt, on the occasion of her marriage to Lieutenant Fitch?" said the Enquirer man to Mr. Patton, the diamond merchant yesterday.

"I do'" was the reply, "A sister of General Sherman called at my office one day this week, and I asked her the same question. She repeated to me the history of the famous necklace, from the time of its reception at the New York Custom-house until its final disposition. It is generally known that the duties which the Custom-house officers demanded of Lieutenant Fitch, before they could deliver the magnificent present, would be something over $20,000, the lowest estimate placed on its value by experts being $200,000. Lieutenant Fitch, not being a man of means, was unable to pay this sum. An Enabling Act was then passed by Congress, authorizing the Custom-house officers to deliver the diamonds to Mrs. Fitch free of duty. After this the necklace was sent to Washington, and, with General Sherman's sword, deposited in the United States Treasury for safe-keeping. Upon further inquiry Lieutenant Fitch ascertained that the yearly taxes on the diamonds in St Louis county, where he then resided, would be much more than his salary, and he once more found them an elephant on his hands. His father-in-law, Gen. Sherman, took pity on the boy, and returned the necklace, with thanks to the donor in Egypt. Upon receiving them the Khedive wrote to the General, saying that it was not his desire that the diamonds should be given to any one member of the family and having learned that he had four daughters, it was his wish then that the diamonds should be mounted in sets and divided equally between them. These daughters are Mrs Fitch, nee Minnie Sherman, Ella Sherman, Lizzie Sherman and Rachael Sherman. The necklace was then returned to the Sherman family and mounted in four magnificent pendants, four pairs of splendid soltare earrings and eight rings. These four ladies are now the happy possessors of four complete suits of diamonds, the value of each suit being at least $75,000. This makes each of them rich in her own right, through the generosity of Egypt's ruler."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A DESERTED HOUSE.—A singular story is told of a deserted house near Haverhill, Massachusetts. Twelve years ago an energetic young mechanic was engaged to marry a young woman of that city, and worked hard to lay up money to buy a home to which to take his bride. One morning he invited her to take a drive to a handsome and well furnished house in the suburbs, showed her through the rooms, and told her it belonged to him. To her inquiry how he had obtained it, he finally admitted that it was purchased with a part of $20,000 which he had drawn in a lottery. Being a girl of strict principles, she declared she would never marry him unless he gave back the money, and on his refusing, she left him forever, and the house is still tenantless.

A Maine schooner while fishing off the banks of Newfoundland with some two hundred fathoms of cable out and sails clewed, was suddenly found to be under headway. It was soon discovered that a huge whale of the finback species had got his tail entangled in the cable and was hauling the craft at the rate of fifteen knots an hour, and growing more and more excited was keeping his course to the sea. The whale finally tore away by breaking the cable.

Gov. Wade Hampton, it is said, would rather hunt or fish than make a political speech, and yet a South Carolina darkey says of him: "Fo' de Lawd! but ebery time dat man opens his mouf I feels dat I am turnin' whiter an' gettin' de kinks out'n my ha'r."

Violet Ink.

In 1871, 1872 and 1873, two young men (twin brothers,) Frenchmen, were often met in different parts of France and England, dressed alike, and by closely watching them they were seen to enter counting houses, banks, insurance offices, great grocers, merchants, and stores of every kind. They carried no luggage or large sample cases, like commercial travelers or drummers. These two young men were the celebrated brothers that made clear, in three years, between them, over £100,000 sterling, without one cent of capital to start with. In 1870 they made the discovery of a very rich violet writing ink. They put it up in bottles, and sold it for 2s., English currency. But they were very poor and, could not advertise or commission it; and they struggled hard, but could not get ahead. They walked from shop to shop every day, occasionally selling a bottle. One dark, bleak Saturday night, in the city of Paris, out of money, footsore, disheartened and hungry, they entered a cafe to trade a bottle of their violet ink (if they could) for their supper. The keen proprietor tested their great discovery and was amazed. He offered them five francs to teach him their secret, so that he could make his own ink and never have to buy any more. The brothers faltered. It was hunger on one side and parting with their secret on the other. They decided to accept the Frenchman's paltry five franc piece and make the violet ink in his presence. They then determined to sell that secret to all France and England. The five francs carried them over till Monday morning. From that day fortune never failed them. They each took a pint bottle of the violet ink in their pockets, and visited stores, banks, offices, and everywhere ink is used or sold. They asked a moment's time of the storekeeper to show him their writing done with this ink. Then they told him he could make that ink for a trifle per gallon. He could sell it in his store or use it for his own business purposes. Five francs was to give the secret. They found hundreds of thousands ready to buy. Their fortune was made. Three years they worked selling this secret in this way. Very many days they made 500f. and 600., and in England they were known to make even more than that sum in a single day. They retired in the fall of 1873 worth over half a million dollars, every dollar of which was made selling the secret for making their elegant violet ink.—St Louis Republican.

It is a hitherto unpublished fact that Charles Dickens, when coming once through France, by rail from Marseille to Paris, made very abortive attempt at a practical joke. At Lyons a quarter of an hour was allowed for dining, and Dickens fooled the passengers out of their dinner by collecting around him all the waiters' and so confusing them by garbled French, English, Italian, that by the time they had extricated themselves from the loudly querulous Englishmen, who pretended to have some grievances against them, the bell was clanging for "all aboard."

A young man in the country, who has to work there, writes: "I have just returned from harvesting wheat—'the golden wheat' that some ass writes such glowing pictures about—and 'eating golden butter,' and all that stuff. If I had that man by the windpipe I would choke him. My fingers are blistered and my face is burned. I work sixteen hours a day and get one dollar."

A Buffalo Alderman astonished the board, in a meeting for consideration as to the building of a new jail, by remarking: "I makes der motion as der new jail be build on der same spot as der old jail what's now standing; dat saves der money for der land, and I makes der motion as der old jail shall not be pulled down till der new jail is built so ve vill not be mitout der jail."

"Pull down your ear a moment, I want to look down the street," said a man on Main street yesterday to a traveler just ahead of him. The traveler meekly folded his ears under his hat and passed mournfully on. It was the funny man of the Free Press.

A statistician of enlarged observation says "editors never commit suicide." He is probably not aware that this is owing to the fact that editors, after being in the business a year, resolve not to kill themselves until all back subscriptions are paid up.

The pineapple is cultivated extensively in the East Indies, where the leaves are converted into a kind of wadding, used for upholstering purposes instead of hair, and into a sort of flannel, of which substantial hirts and coats are made.

FIG CANDY.—Take one pound of sugar, three-quarters of a pint of water and set over a slow fire, when done add a few drops of vinegar and a lump of butter, and put into pans in which slices of figs are laid.

Every man is said to have at least one opportunity to acquire wealth. In the case of a newspaper man, this opportunity comes on the 29th of February every year, except leap year.

It is singular that the more you damp the ardor of a troublesome talker, by throwing cold water on his effusions, the sooner he dries up.

Plain Democratic Talk.

At the recent session of the Ohio Democratic Committee there was a good deal of lively talk, and at least one outbreak of virgin truth. A motion had been made that reporters be excluded, in order that there might be an unfettered exchange of views on condition and needs of the party. One member remarked with considerable warmth that the Democracy had no secrets it would be ashamed to see in the newspapers. This excited the disgust of a Cleveland member, who sprang to the front with this counterblast: "That will do very well to talk about, but I have come here to talk business. We can talk and blow about reforms and all sorts of good things, but the attempt at reform by the Democratic party for the past fifteen or sixteen years have been d——d flat failures. I don't believe in mincing matters, and I don't propose to have everything I may have to say given out by these newspaper reporters." The Committee, as soon as it could recover from this shock, voted to let the reporters remain, probably for the reason that they couldn't take away anything worse than they had already received.

The Democracy will, at times, talk very plain English, and a stranger to the country would think they could never be brought into the "traces" again, but when election day arrives they will drop into line and vote the straight Democratic ticket.

The Reno Gazette says an association, to be known as the "Piute Sugar Company" has organized at that place. The company have located a large tract of land in the sugar cane district, and a large sorghum mill will be erected forthwith. "The company," says the Gazette, "expect to have everything in full operation by the 1st of June. They believe they will be able to supply the Nevada market with choice sugar at lower prices than any of a similar quality can be imported."

COAST.

Citizens' Protective Union. W. P. C.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—The Citizens' Protective Union is making preparations for insuring a quiet election and checking illegal voting. It has caused a canvass of the city to be made and expresses increased confidence in its ability to elect candidates. At sand lot, yesterday, Kearney devoted himself to the consideration of claims of rival candidates. Resolutions were adopted pledging the W. P. C's to a more conservative line of agitation, in event of their success in the election, but asserting that it will not be allowed to cease until the Chinese question is finally settled. In the evening at the Metropolitan Temple, Kalloch addressed a large audience, reviewing recent events, defending his course, giving the history of the conference with the committee of the Citizens' Union which was substantially as previously reported in these dispatches, and concluding by advising quieting of agitation and return to natural order of things.

Business Suspended.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—To morrow the banks, the produce and stock exchanges will be closed and business generally practically suspended, although the day is not a legal holiday, the election not being general, so public offices will remain open.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—Santa Rosa dispatch says, George H. Roney was shot and killed by G. H. Hayes Saturday night, while attempting to enter the house of the latter. Letters purporting to come from Mrs. Hayes induced Roney to make the attempt.

Suicide.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—Henry Plank, a native of California, aged 22, committed suicide this morning, at his residence 1313 Mason street, by shooting himself through the heart. He was brother-in-law of Adjutant General Walsh and clerk in his office. Cause, ill-health and depression of spirits.

PORTLAND, Or., March 29.—A miner named Arthur Berry, living near Applegate Josephine Co., suicided on the 27th inst. by blowing out his brains with a gun. Cause unknown.

Death of John Nugent.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—John Nugent, former editor and proprietor of the San Francisco Herald, died at San Leandro this morning.

Man Drowned.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—Patrick Kelly, accompanied by his wife and children, yesterday attempted to board the ship Austria, lying at Front street wharf, and, while ascending the gang plank, fell overboard and was drowned before assistance could be rendered.

Legislative.

SACRAMENTO, March 29.—Senate—Message from the Governor announcing the appointment of A Harlowe, G. T. Bromley and N. Young, Port Wardens of San Francisco. Communication was presented stating that Chase, of Santa Barbara, was ineligible to sit in the Senate one count of not having resided three years in the State.

Bill Signed.

SACRAMENTO, March 29.—The Governor has signed Felton's bill prohibiting the Six Chinese Companies from charging Chinese leaving the State a fee for purchasing tickets.

Suicide.

LOS ANGELES, March 29.—Henry Schaffer, a German florist, committed suicide, in his summer-house, this morning by shooting himself through the head. He left a number of letters in which he stated that as he was getting old and in debt he was afraid he could not support himself much longer. He had acquired considerable property, but endorsing for friends and partners has left scarcely enough to defray funeral expenses.

Heavy Storm.

RENO, March 28.—Heavy wind storms been blowing for the last two days; telegraph line to Virginia City blown down, also several barns; train due here at 6 o'clock is stuck in snow west of Summit. It is the worst storm ever seen in the mountains.

EASTERN.

Seymour.

CHICAGO, March 29.—The Times Utica special says that no one has been authorized to say that Seymour would not accept the nomination for the Presidency if unanimously made. He is in spendid health, his only trouble being nervousness and fear of over exhaustment. He and his friends want his boom to float naturally.

NEW ORLEANS, March 29.—A Committee of citizens called on Governor Wiltz yesterday, informing him of riotous proceedings on the part of striking colored laborers in St. John's parish, and asking Executive interference. The Governor informed them that he would dispatch Major W. A. Prong to the scene of the trouble this morning who would read his the (the Gov.) proclamation, and in case the strikers did not then cease from further unlawful demonstrations he would send a military force immediately.

Iowa for Blaine.

DES MOINES, Iowa, March 28.—The Republican primaries for the County Convention on Saturday resulted in the election of the Blaine delegates in the city by a vote nearly 4 to 1, the Blaine men receiving 670, and the Grant men 132, Sherman 2 and Edmunds and Hayes 1 each.

Blaine and Sherman.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Ex-Senator Conover, who is special Treasury Agent left for Florida last night, charged with the duty of getting up a Sherman delegation from his State to the Chicago Convention. Ex-Congressman Morton C. Hunter, who is the leading Republican candidate for Governor of Indiana, and who has made a thorough canvass of the State, says the delegation from Indiana to Chicago has no great men in it. The delegates are divided between Blaine and Sherman.

State Squabble.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—In the House to-day a bill was introduced prescribing the manner of guaranteeing a Republican form of government for the States. It provides that where the authorities of any State cannot decide without an appeal to force, which of two bodies is the legal legislative body the President shall communicate the fact to the Senate, which shall settle the question.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The Chilian legation received a cablegram from Panama last night, stating that Moquesquee has been occupied, without resistance, by 14,000 Chilians and that no fighting occurred. Arica was bombarded for three days by the Chilian Navy, during which time considerable damage was done on land.

Appropriations.

The Senate Committee on appropriations yesterday practically completed the considerations of the immediate deficiency bills. The Committee agreed to recommend an addition of $236,500, to facilitate the speedy completion of the new State, War and Navy Department building. The amount of the home appropriation for Marshals and deputies, will not be changed, but the Committee decides that an amendment should be made in the phraseology of the clause relative to the future method of appointing Deputy Marshals of election. The clause on this subject requires their appointment by U. S. Circuit or District Judges, but the Constitution provides that all officers shall be appointed by the President by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, with the reservation that Congress may by law vest the appointment of such inferior officers as it thinks proper in the President, in the heads of Departments, or in the courts of law. The Committee therefore proposes to vest the appointment of Deputy Marshals in the Courts instead of conferring them upon individual Judges.

Pardons Refused.

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 29—The Board of Pardons refused to pardon Kemcel, Petroff, Salter, Crawford and Rumburger, who pleaded guilty to corruptly soliciting votes from members of the Legislature. They applied for pardons in advance of being sentenced.

Population of St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, March 29.—The Gould directors of this city, for the present year, has been issued. It contains 351,870 names an increase of 7139 over last year, and an increase of 52,969 since the Federal census of 1870. By the usual ratio of people to a name, this gives the city a population of over 540,000.

Attacked by a Mob.

LONDON, March 29.—Colonel Smertees conservative candidate for the Southern division of Durham, was attacked by a mob. The Colonel received several cuts on the head.
